Description

The Civilian Military Internship Program offers dynamic internship opportunities for motivated individuals seeking to contribute to the intersection of civilian and military affairs in 2026. As an intern, you will have the chance to work on projects that bridge the gap between civilian organizations and the military, fostering collaboration and innovation. This program provides a unique platform to gain hands-on experience while making meaningful contributions to national security and public service.

Responsibilities

- Collaborate with civilian and military personnel on projects related to defense policy, national security, and military-civilian relations.
- Conduct research and analysis on topics such as defense budgeting, strategic planning, and international security cooperation.
- Assist in the development of policy recommendations and strategies to address emerging challenges in the civilian-military domain.
- Support outreach efforts to promote dialogue and cooperation between civilian organizations, government agencies, and the military.
- Attend meetings, briefings, and events to gain insights into key issues and initiatives in the civilian-military sphere.

Qualifications

- Currently enrolled in a degree program related to political science, international relations, public policy, military studies, or a related field.
- Must have completed at least two years of undergraduate coursework by the start of the internship.

Experience

- Previous experience in research, analysis, or project management is preferred but not required.
- Familiarity with military organizations, defense policy, or national security issues is a plus.
- Experience working in a collaborative environment and engaging with diverse stakeholders is beneficial.

Skills

- Strong research and analytical skills, with the ability to synthesize complex information and present findings effectively.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills, including the ability to convey ideas clearly and concisely.
- Proficiency in Microsoft Office suite and other relevant software applications.
- Attention to detail and the ability to manage multiple tasks simultaneously.

- Adaptability and willingness to learn in a fast-paced environment.
- Commitment to professionalism, integrity, and confidentiality.

Job Benefits

- Valuable hands-on experience in a dynamic and interdisciplinary work environment.
- Exposure to a wide range of issues and stakeholders in the civilian-military domain.
- Networking opportunities with professionals in government, military, and non-profit sectors.
- Mentorship and guidance from experienced leaders and subject matter experts.
- Potential for academic credit, depending on your institution's policies.
- Competitive stipend or hourly wage.

How To Apply

Interested candidates should submit the following documents:

1. Resume or curriculum vitae (CV) highlighting relevant coursework, skills, and experiences.
2. Cover letter outlining your interest in the internship and how your skills and experiences align with the job roles.
3. Academic transcript (unofficial transcripts are acceptable).
4. Contact information for two references (e.g., professors, supervisors, advisors).
